NOW YOU KNOW-THE STORY OF THE FOUR FRESHMEN was written by founding Freshman Ross Barbour in 1995 and published in paperback form with very few photos and no interior color. The first edition sold out and the book was updated and reprinted by Ross in 1998. This new deluxe coffee-table edition is 12"x 11", full color throughout, 363 pages, and is bound in genuine leather. It contains an additional chapter written by Ross's wife Sue Barbour after Ross's death in August, 2011. Publisher Russ Cochran has greatly expanded the original book with hundreds of new photos, many from the Capitol Archives, and others from the Barbour family. This new special edition is limited to only 1500 copies, each copy is numbered and signed by Sue Barbour. Brian Wilson, the founding genius of the Beach Boys, wrote a new Foreword for this edition. The book is designed by famous professional designer Leslie Cabarga. The book comes in a matching custom-made slipcase. Available now for $150. plus shipping. The pictures in the book are great to have

By ronald james schnepper

The pictures in the book are great to have. The list of all the men who contributed to the different quartet through the years has lots of valuable information. I have been a fan since 1956 and it is so good to see the guys are still together in sound at least. Miss all the old timers, but enjoy the saved sound. Each time they come to Largo Florida we are there to see them.
