Probably only book on the subject, but much needed and appreciated.

Ok, I'll concede that this may be a bit of a niche subject. I'll concede that this book addresses a very narrow audience. However, for those trying to pursue Brazilian Jiu Jitsu as a full-time occupation, this book is much-needed guide in an arid desert of information. For those of us in BJJ and pursuing sponsorships, it can seem like you're hoisting the donation cup and begging for loose change. In this book, Budo Jake not only describes how you - as an athlete or instructor - can provide value to the companies from whom you're seeking sponsorship, and continue to do so.

In a way, Jake shows us how to solicit for sponsorships with dignity, which I greatly appreciate.

At the end of the book, he provides a pretty detailed list of companies involved with BJJ, as if he were to say: "You know what to say, you know how to say it, now go get it"!
